Today's Gospel reports two stories of healing. One story tells us about a father's great love for his dying daughter. The other story tells us about a desperate woman who risks much as she seeks healing from Jesus. In each story, the request for healing is itself a courageous act of faith. Distraught over his daughter's health, Jairus, a synagogue official, approaches Jesus and asks him to heal her. As Jesus leaves with Jairus, a second person who seeks healing from Jesus is a woman with a hemorrhage. This woman secretly touches Jesus from behind and is immediately cured. Jesus turns and asks who touched him. The woman steps forward and acknowledges what she has done. Jesus responds by acknowledging her as a model of faith and sends her away in peace. Jairus's becomes impatient with Jesus; his daughter is dying and Jesus hasn't helped him. Messengers arrive and confirm that Jairus's daughter has died. Jesus reassures Jairus. When they arrive at Jairus's home, Jesus enters the room of the dead girl, takes her by the hand, and instructs her to arise. Jairus's faith in Jesus has not been in vain. The contrasts between Jairus and the woman with the hemorrhage are stark. One is a man, the other is a woman. One is a public official, an important person in the community. The other is a woman who has lost everything to find a cure to a condition that separated her from the community. One approaches Jesus publicly. The other approaches Jesus secretly. In each case, faith leads them to seek out Jesus in their time of need. Those who witness Jesus' power and authority are instructed to not speak of what they have witnessed. In the end, each must make his or her own judgment about Jesus' identity. Each individual must make his or her own act of faith in affirming Jesus as God's Son.

On July 14-15, 2018, the Archdiocese of New Orleans will take up the annual Black and Indian Mission Collection, which has a direct impact in our own archdiocese as we benefit locally from grants funded by the collection. Your generosity to this collection reflects the depths of your faith and your willingness to help our brothers and sisters in need; it is an opportunity to evangelize and further the missionary cause of bringing the Gospel to our African American and Native American family.

OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR
Our Father in Heaven through the intercession of Our Lady of Prompt Succor, spare us during this Hurricane season from all harm. Protect us and our homes from all disaster of nature. Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. We ask this through Christ our Lord.
